What's changing and why?

The Council will be changing from weekly collections to alternate weekly collections for refuse and recycling.

Alternate weekly collections are expected to begin on 2nd July 2018. Look out for a notice on your bin in June confirming the final details.

The change is necessary due to external funding for the service of £745,000 being withdrawn, and savings having to be made.

What will this mean?

Your refuse and recycling collections will change to alternate weekly, with refuse collected one week and recycling collected on the other week.

If you feel you need larger or additional bins you will be able to order them for delivery before the start of alternate weekly collections or at any time after the start date.

Ordering larger or additional bins after 2nd July

You might decide to keep the bins you have to see how you get on. If you do this but later decide you want larger or additional bins, you will still be able to order them on the website or over the phone.

How will the exchange of bins work?

If you are requesting a larger bin (this doesn't apply to additional bins), you will need to return your existing bin. This will be explained to you when you submit your request via www.blaby.gov.uk/waste2018.

What about garden waste?

There is no change to the garden waste service.
